

LACK OF CONTROL

Man attempts to control and dominate space age. He also feels a need to dominate the universe, and yes, medical science, in the development and growing of organs in test tubes for transplantation to extend life.

But, why does some people feel a need to control and dominate others. Is it because there is a weakness within the individual that he attempts to submerge through the control and dominating of others? One thing is for sure, he has not yet learned that true importance is controlling and dominating one's self not others. Lest we forget, man cannot control and dominate the universe, only God can do that. And only with God's help can man control and dominate himself into a caring, loving, peaceful person in The Daily Walk.
