Since a character's background is almost always more important than that character's actual Attributes, Abilities and Disciplines and so on, we're focusing on that first. Feel free to tell us everything about your character that you can think of; some useful things to include might be who Embraced you and why, who gave you your Status and why, what brought you to St. Louis, what your plans in the city are and what might be publicly known about you.

Please get this Background looked at and approved by a Storyteller before moving on to creating stats. Thanks!
