Membership Application

JWKC is an all-volunteer organization designed to help midwest authors of children's literature develop their professional skills and advance towards publication in the children's book and magazine market. Membership is open to published and unpublished writers over the age of 18 who are actively writing children's literature. Please see our Membership FAQ for more information. Membership is not required to participate in events open to the public but a higher fee may apply for non-members. Membership covers the period of January 1-December each calendar year.
