ASCE Young Civil Engineer Award

ASCE presents a national award to a deserving young civil engineer of the year (see the attached information). The ASCE El Paso Branch would like to nominate a local young civil engineer for this national award. The El Paso Branch nominee would be honored as the ASCE Young Civil Engineer of the Year. Then the application would be forwarded along for consideration for the national award.

If you would like to nominate a deserving engineer for this prestigious award, please refer to the attached information. Please submit the application form to the El Paso Branch President (Alex Woelper) to be eligible for the local award.
