

Karen Joshi

Karen introduces her solo song show with a favorite line: “I may look like a typical California kid but in fact I’m only one generation away from Broadway...Tin Pan Alley. My Nana went to the same high school as Barbra Streisand – Erasmus High in Brooklyn, NY.” Karen’s unique blend of East/West beauty and sensibilities comes from her distinctive heritage: half-Jewish, half-Nepalese. Mom and dad met at college in 1975 where he was a foreign student and Fulbright Scholar from Katmandu, Nepal. Karen celebrates her multi-cultural diversity and is proud to live in an area where she is indeed the “quintessential kid”.

13-year-old singer entertainer

Presenting a program of Broadway and treasured standards

Performing for retirement, residential and assisted living communities

Available throughout the East Bay, South Bay and Peninsula

Featured in community musical theatre since age 7

Repertoire of Karaoke and a-cappella favorites

Titles like “You Must Have Been a Beautiful Baby” and “Let Me Call You Sweetheart”

Provides sound equipment, requires electrical outlet
Resume and references upon request

Excerpt from 9/22/03 letter to Karen from Mark Green, Mayor of Union City, regarding Karen’s contribution to Union City’s Public Safety Appreciation Day:

All of us present in the Council Chambers that evening were moved by your beautiful rendition of “God Bless America.” The enthusiastic and heartfelt applause that followed your performance said it all.

We are so proud to have such a talented young person in our community. Obviously you have a gift for singing...Your confidence and dedication are an inspiration to us all.

Karen Joshi
33013 Brockway Street
Union City, CA 94587
(510) 489-8283 yakyeti@cwnet.com